

Welding Services UKAS Type A Inspection Body

InCon welding services believes in offering a comprehensive range of services aimed at providing a total quality solution to the fabrication, welding and in-service inspection industries.

Our team of qualified specialists are based throughout the UK and Ireland, and are dedicated to provide a selection of services including: inspection, non-destructive testing and pre-auditing services to ensure customer's welding requirements are met as specified by design and welding codes (i.e. EN ISO, BS, international and client requirements)

The basis is in welding and joining technology. Over the years our staff have proven to be dependable in developing and encouraging the adoption of new techniques and best practice.

Let us show you how Welding Services from InCon can meet your expectations and offer a comprehensive, total quality solution. Contact us to find out more.

Additional benefits to our clients

- One stop service - dealing with one organisation
- Responsiveness - certification issued within 10 days of weld test coupon completion.
- Certification management - we will prompt you three months in advance of the expiry of your weld certification.

InCon Welding Services

Inspection: Qualified welding inspectors (CSWIP, PCN levels 2 and 3) can be supplied to manage and/or inspect various welding projects. Reports can normally be issued within a 24-48 hour period, offering full traceability.

NDT: Fully qualified operators in Ultrasonic, Radiography / interpretation, Magnetic Particle and Dye Penetrant inspection, can be provided for both on-site and laboratory-based NDT.

InCon Welding Services have been accredited as a Type A inspection body by the United Kingdom Accreditation Service (UKAS) authorising the certification of permanent joining in accordance with the requirements of the PED 2014/68/EU.

Our partnership with EN 17025 accredited laboratories allows us to offer a one-stop weld certification service. Providing clients with a cost-effective service that uniquely puts the client first, removing the pressures connected with dealing with a number of organisations.

We believe in total quality solutions. With our commitment to excellent craftsmanship, we guarantee that our welding services meet the most stringent requirements. Whether you're welding a new component or inspecting existing welds, InCon Welding Services has you covered!